

Student Life, Activities, and Honors

North Georgia College & State University offers students the opportunity to become directly involved in the leadership and management of the organizations affecting student life. Opportunities for practical experience in leadership and personnel management, for character development, and for assumption of responsibility are derived directly from the structured organization of the university's diverse student body.

Following is a brief explanation of the NGCSU student government and campus organizations, as well as the manner in which resident students are organized for daily living, and some of the basic regulations by which all students are expected to gauge their conduct. Rules and regulations governing student conduct are included in the Student Handbook. All students are provided with copies of the handbook at the beginning of each year and are held responsible for having a knowledge of its content.

Leadership Development

The many student organizations, the Corps of Cadets, the Resident Assistant program, the INTRO program (new student orientation), and the classroom environment encourage leadership development in students. Holding student offices, managing a military unit or a floor in one of the residence halls, attending leadership workshops and leading an orientation group all develop leadership, management, and communication skills among students.

North Georgia College & State University offers a variety of training programs to enhance student leadership development. These include leadership academics through a Leadership Minor and Military Science courses, resident assistant workshops, and Adventure Training (INTRO leaders). Also, an Adventure Challenge Course (ropes course) is offered both as a leadership development course for all student organization leaders and as a class in the Department of Health and Physical Education. The course is designed to promote coordination, self-confidence, problem-solving skills, and trust. Workshops, speakers, and film series are held for all students interested in leadership development.

In addition to experiential leadership development outside the traditional classroom environment, a number of departments offer classes in which leadership styles and dynamics are studied in depth.

Student Government Association (SGA)

NGCSU's Student Government Association (SGA) is composed of elected representatives from each class on campus and executive officers from the student body at large. It is the umbrella student organization on campus.

The SGA is the coordinating body for various student activities, organizations, and class elections; and it is a medium for communication between the administration/faculty and the student body. The SGA annually prepares a budget recommending the allocation of student activity fees.

Corps of Cadets

The Corps of Cadets is the student led military organization for all military students. The corps is structured to produce highly educated men and women of character. Cadets are placed in leadership positions of increasing responsibility over an 8 semester period of time.

A four year experience in the Corps of Cadets will ensure graduates are prepared for successful leadership in either the U.S. Military or Civilian Sectors of American Society.

Qualified Cadets can earn an Officer's Commission in the United States Army, United States Army Reserve, or the National Guard.

Student Activities Board (SAB)

The Student Activities Board (SAB) is the planning and programming body for student activities on the NGCSU campus. Any student interested in a variety of campus activities can contribute her/his ideas and talents by actively participating on the board.

The Student Activities Board, headquartered in the Student Center, is a comprehensive program of student activities planned and executed by enthusiastic students. Six board committees (Ideas and Issues, Random Acts, Publicity/Public Relations, Social Activities, Recreation and the Movie Crew) work with many phases of campus life to provide worthwhile educational, social, and cultural programs for the university community. The SAB is a laboratory for living and a classroom for the education of the whole person.

Recreational Sports

The Department of Recreational Sports is dedicated to providing a high-quality recreational programs for the students of NGCSU. Our programs offer diverse and challenging ways to increase physical fitness while promoting emotional well-being. Our new Student Recreation Center features a variety of cardiovascular equipment, strength equipment, weight machines, and resistance training instruments. Fitness Programs and Services include group exercise, personal training, and orientations. The Center also houses a three (3) court gymnasium, a rock climbing wall, and walking track.

NGCSU Intramural Sport activities offer students the opportunity to compete in a structured and friendly atmosphere. Popular sports include flag football, softball, basketball, ultimate frisbee, and dodge ball.

Also included in the Department of Recreational Sports is the Outdoor Pursuits program, which is dedicated to finding exciting and alternative ways to exercise and interact with other students in the great outdoors. Services include guided trips as well as camping equipment rental.

Commuter Students

All students are required to live on campus unless they meet one of the qualifications listed under the section "Housing & Living Accommodations."

Along with the Commuter Council, which is described below, there are many services for commuting students. This information can be found through the Coordinator of Commuter Services Office located in room 317 in Hoag Student Center.

Commuter Council

The Commuter Council serves as a unifying body for commuting students and works to integrate commuters fully into the total life of the university. Additionally, the council represents the views and concerns of commuter students to the university and works to facilitate effective communication among commuters, resident students, faculty, and staff.

Greek Life (Fraternities & Sororities)

Membership in a Greek organization provides students with tremendous opportunities for lifelong friendships, leadership, social networking and development as well as the chance to help others through philanthropic events and community service projects. Our Greek students are scholars, athletes, and campus leaders. They are Cadets and civilians, as well as residents and commuters. Greeks positively contribute to, and benefit from, North Georgia College & State University collegiate experience.

NGCSU currently hosts seven national fraternities (Alpha Phi Alpha, Kappa Sigma, Pi Kappa Alpha, Pi Kappa Phi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Chi, and Sigma Nu), one local fraternity (Sigma Omega), and five national sororities (Alpha Gamma Delta, Delta Zeta, Kappa Delta, Phi Mu and Sigma Kappa.) The university has a deferred-recruitment program that requires students (freshmen and transfer) to attend NGCSU for one semester, adjust to college life and establish themselves academically, before participating in recruitment to join a fraternity or sorority. Formal recruitment takes place in January of each year.

Standards of Conduct

While the specific rules governing student conduct are spelled out in detail in the Student Handbook and in the Corps of Cadets Blue Book, the standards of conduct expected of North Georgia College & State University students are basically those prevailing in any well-ordered society comprised of intelligent, moral men and women. Minor infractions of rules are handled within the organizational structure of the Corps of Cadets and the residence life program. Serious breaches of the standards of conduct or university regulations are referred to the university discipline process. For details about the university discipline process, refer to the Student Rights and Responsibilities section of the NGCSU Student Handbook.

Vehicle Regulations

Any student may register and keep a vehicle on campus, provided the student is qualified to do so under the laws of the state of Georgia and the regulations of the university. All vehicles parked or operated on campus must be registered with the Office of Public Safety. A student's privilege to operate and/or possess a vehicle on campus may be revoked for good cause at any time. An access fee is charged to all students each semester to cover parking costs.

The university is not responsible for vehicle damage incurred in campus parking lots, nor does it guarantee a parking space for every permit issued.

Student Groups

Life at North Georgia College & State University is enriched by a variety of groups and organizations. Some of these organizations encourage and direct the scientific, scholarly, artistic, or humanitarian interests of students, faculty, and administration. Some provide recognition for achievement. Others are purely social or combine learned interests with social recreation. No attempt is made in the following section to present a detailed account of all organizations and their activities. Full information is provided in the Student Handbook, which is made available to all students at the beginning of each year. Student organizations include the following:
